CES (Elementary School) – Proposition 28 Annual Report Narrative
During the 2025–2026 school year, Proposition 28 funds were used to continue CES's partnership with Inner-City Arts, expanding student access to high-quality arts education and creative learning experiences. Through this partnership, students participated in collective teaching and learning opportunities across a variety of artistic disciplines, including visual arts, theater, dance, music, and ceramics.

Students also participated in field trips to the Inner-City Arts campus, where they engaged in hands-on learning experiences utilizing specialized facilities and equipment. These opportunities included working with pottery kilns, participating in theater and dance workshops, and exploring a variety of musical instruments, including string and wind instruments. These experiences provided students with access to arts instruction and resources that would not otherwise be available within the traditional school setting.

Proposition 28 funds supported student participation in standards-aligned arts instruction designed to foster creativity, collaboration, self-expression, and critical thinking. Through this partnership, students developed artistic skills while engaging in meaningful learning experiences that enriched the overall educational program and expanded access to visual and performing arts.
